

For more than forty years, Standard Pacific Homes has been helping homebuyers in California, Texas, Arizona, Colorado, Florida, the Carolinas and Nevada achieve the cherished American dream.

Because a home is one of the most important purchases you can make, Standard Pacific is dedicated to providing you the utmost in new home choice, quality and value.

The company designs its communities and floor plans with you in mind. And from your first visit to the sales office or models through servicing your warranty, the team at Standard Pacific will treat you with the respect a purchase of this magnitude deserves.

Through strong local leadership, Standard Pacific has been helping Los Angeles homebuyers achieve their homeownership goals since 2002.

And, as one of the nation's largest homebuilders with shares traded on the New York Stock Exchange, you can be assured Standard Pacific is committed to doing things right every step of the way so you can feel confident in your new home purchase.
